

My Bird Sings.

Ans-1. The cage-bird is not free to fly around, so its wings are useless. This is why they are described as being sorrowful.

Ans-2. The speaker's bird is free to build a nest and thrive; it can sing out with a true wood-note; and it can fly freely.

Ans- 3. Both the birds sing. But the song of the cage bird is different because it is trapped in a cage and is full of sorrow.

Ans- 4. b. it is not free to fly and soar.

Ans- 5. a. pipes
b. poor bit thing.
c. Soar.

Ans-6. The speaker's bird is happy because it is free to fly, live its own and sing freely.

Ans- 7. No, I would not like it. Freedom is every human's right. The experience must be similar for animals and birds too. They too deserve to live a free life

Ans-8. 'my bird sings'.
